

I get 5-7 regular daily calls from telemarketers. It is the type that use the automatic dialer which when answered is usually deadair until it hangs up. I stay on the line hoping to speak to someone and tell them not to call my number anymore. As I said most of the time it turns out to be dead air but even though I tell them to stop calling they continue. I have caller id and it is useless unless one is prepared to memorize all the numbers that are connected to the calls. No longer is it clear who is and who is not a telemarketer by the unavailable on the id.

Please if there is anything that can be done to atleast make the calls as inconvenient to the callers as it is to the called.

Thank you for your time and any action you can do.
